

Your recently submitted peer review report

External

Inbox

editorial@f1000research.com via amazonses.com

Wed, Jan 25,
6:44 PM

to raiUtama

Dear I Gusti Bagus,

An analysis of the possibilities and challenges of long stay tourism in Thailand
Madhyamapurush W

Thank you for submitting a peer review report for this article, we really appreciate your help with the peer review process.

Before we publish your review, may you please expand upon your views of this article?

Your review will be published alongside the article, with your full name and affiliation, and allows both authors and readers to see what experts in the field think of the research. In light of this, we ask reviewers to go into more detail with their review to both ensure that if any improvements need to be made the authors are aware, and so that readers are aware of any potential strengths and weaknesses of the article.

We recommend including a brief description of the article and its relevance, organising your comments into 'Major' and 'Minor' points, and to stay constructive. We also encourage positive feedback if there is something good to say. If you are unsure of what to write, we would recommend taking a look at our Peer Reviewing Tips page, which contains examples of other peer review reports published with us.

I have included the current text of your report at the bottom of this email. If you wish to make any changes to your report, simply reply to this email with the amended text.

Also, we noticed that you checked the box indicating that you are a member of the American National Institute of Health and bound by their Publishing Agreement and Manuscript Cover Sheet. Are you a member of the National Institute of Health or was this box checked by mistake?

We look forward to hearing from you, if you've any questions please don't hesitate to ask,

Best regards,

Daniel
The Editorial Team, F1000Research

---

Abstract

- In the abstract it is necessary to include the method used in this study. and also need to include the conclusions of the results of this study.

Introduction

- Enough with the introduction
- The introduction has explained the fact that tourists with long stays are the dream of destination managers.

Conceptual framework

- Theoretical study is sufficient, it is only necessary to explain the difference between tourists on vacation and immigrants with the reason for traveling with the definition set by the UN-WTO.

Results

- Need to explain why the data analyzed is data from 2010 to 2017? This is to ensure that the data is still feasible for analysis and is still relevant to current issues related to length of stay.

Conclusions

- In the concluding section, it is necessary to explain the contribution of the results of this research to science, and to tourism actors.

F1000Research is the trading name of F1000 Research Limited. This e-mail is confidential and should not be used by anyone who is not the original intended recipient. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any disclosure, distribution, copying or use of this message or taking any action in reliance on the contents of it is strictly prohibited. If you have received this electronic message in error, please destroy it immediately, and notify the sender. F1000 Research Limited does not accept liability for any statements made which are clearly the sender's own and not expressly made on behalf of F1000 Research Limited. No contracts may be concluded on behalf of F1000 Research Limited by means of e-mail communication. F1000 Research Limited is Registered in England and Wales with Company Number 8322928, Registered Office Howick Place, London SW1P 1WG, UK.
Do not delete (filing code): F1KR00CDE F1R-VER141028-R (end code)

Invitation to be a Reviewer - Scopus Q1 Journal

External

Inbox

warach Madhay <warachmadhay@gmail.com>

Wed, Jan 11,
10:22 PM

to me

Hello Dr,

I've published my article in F1000Research - Scopus Q1 Journal. As a part of the open peer review process, I have to suggest reviewers from the Tourism domain from different geographical regions. I request you to accept the invitation if you have received it.

You'll get official invitation mail from F1000Research Journal (Scopus Q1) to review the article.

An analysis of the possibilities and challenges of long stay tourism in Thailand

As part of their reports, reviewers are asked to provide a recommendation. Their report will be published alongside the article with their full name and affiliation.

Your swift response will be highly appreciated.

Thank you

Invitation to peer review an article by Warach Madhyamapurush

External

Inbox

editorial@f1000peerreview.com via amazones.com

Wed, Jan 11,
9:30 PM

to raiUtama

Dear I Gusti Bagus

An analysis of the possibilities and challenges of long stay tourism in Thailand
Madhyamapurush W

I hope you're well - you have been recommended as an expert reviewer for the research article above published on F1000Research, part of the Taylor & Francis Group. We would be very grateful if you, perhaps with a colleague, could provide a peer review report for this article. The abstract is included at the end of this email and the full article is available here.

F1000Research operates a fully transparent post-publication open peer review model. To ensure that you are given full credit for your review, all peer review reports are published alongside the article under the reviewers' full names and affiliations. Peer review reports are also assigned a DOI, making your work fully citeable and claimable on your ORCID account.

Please let us know whether you are able to review this article using the following links: I accept the invitation or I decline the invitation. If you'd prefer, you can email to let us know. We will then send you details about the review process and a link to the report form that we will ask you to complete. As noted, you are also welcome to invite a colleague (for example, someone in your group) to help prepare the report and be named as a co-reviewer. We would hope to receive your report by 25 January, but if you need more time we would be happy to extend this.

If you have a potential competing interest, please contact us before you begin writing your review, so that we can confirm you are eligible. We would welcome suggestions of alternative reviewers if you are not available to review this article.

As a thank you, when your report is published you will receive 30 days complimentary access to peer reviewed content on Taylor and Francis Online.

We look forward to hearing from you soon - if you have any questions, please don't hesitate to get in touch.

Daniel
The Editorial Team, F1000Research

Article abstract

The tourism sector is significant in emerging nations like Thailand. The cost of lodging is a significant component of practically every trip, thus it is important to consider accommodation development while trying to draw in visitors from other nations. The long-stay tourism industry is crucial since longer visitor stays result in more revenue. Following this, other research on long-term lodging of all forms has been conducted, with an emphasis on both the tourist and real estate sectors. The best tourist option in Thailand is long-term travel. As evidenced by the American, European, and Japanese visitors, the target market is tourists from nations with high costs of living, frigid climates, and aging populations. Therefore, it is anticipated that the tourist demographic will change in future, leading to the emergence of the retirement home niche market as a part of long-stay tourism. The characteristics of long-stay tourism in Thailand are examined in this paper, and we assess the theoretical and conceptual framework as an analysis of Thailand's tourism. Examining the current situation of the Thai long-stay tourist business is the initial and main objective of this study. There is currently no perfect answer, but various alternatives from comparable markets in representative nations have been used as examples to subsequently create tourism accommodation in Thailand for long-stay tourism.

F1000Research is the trading name of F1000 Research Limited. This e-mail is confidential and should not be used by anyone who is not the original intended recipient. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any disclosure, distribution, copying or use of this message or taking any action in reliance on the contents of it is strictly prohibited. If you have received this electronic message in error, please destroy it immediately, and notify the sender. F1000 Research Limited does not accept liability for any statements made which are clearly the sender's own and not expressly made on behalf of F1000 Research Limited. No contracts may be concluded on behalf of F1000 Research Limited by means of e-mail communication. F1000 Research Limited is Registered in England and Wales with Company Number 8322928, Registered Office Howick Place, London SW1P 1WG, UK.
Do not delete (filing code): F1KR00CDE F1R-VER141028-R (end code)

ReplyForward

our peer review report for article by Warach Madhyamapurush

External

Inbox

editorial@f1000research.com via amazones.com

Sat, Jan 14,
2:37 PM

to raiUtama

Dear I Gusti Bagus

An analysis of the possibilities and challenges of long stay tourism in Thailand

Madhyamapurush W

Thank you for agreeing to review this article. We would be very grateful if you could submit your report by 27 January, but please let us know if you'll need longer. If you'd like to be updated when additional reviews, comments, or responses are added to this article, please click the 'Track' button on the article page next to the abstract.

The review process:

- 1. Please provide a constructive assessment of the study, detailing your thoughts and recommendations for the author. Also, please state if there are any aspects of the study you have not been able to assess.
- 2. Provide answers to our mandatory reviewer questions.
- 3. Choose an approval status which reflects the content of your review (approved, approved with reservations, or not approved).

For more information, please see our Reviewer Guidelines. Your name, approval status and your report will be published alongside the article.

The best way to submit your peer review report is using our online form - there is a short registration process if you have not registered on an F1000 site before. You can also submit your report by completing an offline peer review report form, please let us know if you want to do this and we will provide you with a copy of the form.

If you need any assistance, please don't hesitate to get in touch.

Best regards,

Daniel
The Editorial Team, F1000Research

F1000Research is the trading name of F1000 Research Limited. This e-mail is confidential and should not be used by anyone who is not the original intended recipient. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any disclosure, distribution, copying or use of this message or taking any action in reliance on the contents of it is strictly prohibited. If you have received this electronic message in error, please destroy it immediately, and notify the sender. F1000 Research Limited does not accept liability for any statements made which are clearly the sender's own and not expressly made on behalf of F1000 Research Limited. No contracts may be concluded on behalf of F1000 Research Limited by means of e-mail communication. F1000 Research Limited is Registered in England and Wales with Company Number 8322928, Registered Office Howick Place, London SW1P 1WG, UK.

Do not delete (filing code): F1KR00CDE F1R-VER141028-R (end code)

Thank you for submitting your report

External

Inbox

editorial@f1000research.com via amazonses.com

Sat, Jan 14,
3:10 PM

to raiUtama, research

Dear I Gusti Bagus,

An analysis of the possibilities and challenges of long stay tourism in Thailand
Madhyamapurush W

Thank you very much for submitting your peer review report for this article. We will get back to you if we have any queries about your report; otherwise, we will let you know when it is published alongside the article. Please note that as part of our instructions for authors, we ask that they do not contact reviewers regarding the peer review - please contact the editorial office if you feel an author of this article has contacted you unnecessarily.

Use the track option on An analysis of the possibilities and challenges of long stay tourism in Thailand to be alerted when other referee reports or reader comments are published.

F1000Research is working with researchers at Queensland University of Technology (QUT) to examine uncertainty in peer review. You can find out more about the study and participate in this research by clicking here. There are seven questions. Based on collected data, questions take a median of 3 minutes to complete. Your participation is entirely voluntary.

If you have any questions, you can contact Adrian by email on: a.barnett@qut.edu.au.

Kind regards,

Daniel
The Editorial Team, F1000Research

F1000Research is the trading name of F1000 Research Limited. This e-mail is confidential and should not be used by anyone who is not the original intended recipient. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any disclosure, distribution, copying or use of this message or taking any action in reliance on the contents of it is strictly prohibited. If you have received this electronic message in error, please destroy it immediately, and notify the sender. F1000 Research Limited does not accept liability for any statements made which are clearly the sender's own and not expressly made on behalf of F1000 Research Limited. No contracts may be concluded on behalf of F1000 Research Limited by means of e-mail communication. F1000 Research Limited is Registered in England and Wales with Company Number 8322928, Registered Office Howick Place, London SW1P 1WG, UK.
Do not delete (filing code): F1KR00CDE F1R-VER141028-R (end code)

Thank you for your review

External

Inbox

editorial@f1000research.com via amazonses.com

Mon, Feb 6,
10:19 PM

to raiUtama

Dear I Gusti Bagus,

An analysis of the possibilities and challenges of long stay tourism in Thailand

Madhyamapurush W

Thank you for giving us your expert opinion on this article.

I've added your peer review report to the article online, which you can view here <https://f1000research.com/articles/12-43/v1#referee-response-159823>. Please let us know if any of your details are incorrect. Your report has also been assigned a DOI (digital object identifier), 10.5256/f1000research.141028.r159823, which can be used for citing your report, for example on your resumé, your personal/laboratory website or via social media. Click the 'Cite' button next to your report to get the DOI and the full citation for your report.

I will notify the author about your report and let you know if they respond with a comment or a revised version.

You can add your review to Web of Science Reviewer Recognition Service (formally known as Publons) by simply forwarding this email to reviews@webofscience.com to gain further recognition of your work, though you must be registered with Web of Science in order to benefit from this service: register for a free account.

As a thank you for providing this report, you are entitled to 20% off the article processing charge for one article you submit and have published in F1000Research in the next 12 months. You have also received 30 days complimentary access to peer reviewed content on Taylor and Francis Online.

F1000Research is working with researchers at Queensland University of Technology (QUT) to examine uncertainty in peer review. You can find out more about the study and participate in this research by clicking here. There are seven questions. Based on collected data, questions take a median of 3 minutes to complete. Your participation is entirely voluntary. If you have any questions, you can contact Adrian by email on: a.barnett@qut.edu.au.

Thank you again for your help with reviewing for F1000Research, your assistance is much appreciated.

Kind regards,

Daniel
The Editorial Team, F1000Research

F1000Research is the trading name of F1000 Research Limited. This e-mail is confidential and should not be used by anyone who is not the original intended recipient. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any disclosure, distribution, copying or use of this message or taking any action in reliance on the contents of it is strictly prohibited. If you have received this electronic message in error, please destroy it immediately, and notify the sender. F1000 Research Limited does not accept liability for any statements made which are clearly the sender's own and not expressly made on behalf of F1000 Research Limited. No contracts may be concluded on behalf of F1000 Research Limited by means of e-mail communication. F1000 Research Limited is Registered in England and Wales with Company Number 8322928, Registered Office Howick Place, London SW1P 1WG, UK.
Do not delete (filing code): F1KR00CDE F1R-VER141028-R (end code)