Reviewer A:

- In the introduction, the objective should have been formulated more clearly. For this, it is advisable to formulate several research questions.
- In addition, the contribution to the existing research is only briefly outlined in the introduction. It should be made clearer here which goals of the article address which research gaps.
- The literature review should include the Dayak indigenous people and CU Betang Asi, as not everyone is familiar with their condition. Furthermore, they are the focus of the research problem in this study.
- The discussion does not reflect that the triangulation has been done, as there is no citation and reflection from previous researches.
- There is no implication of research and also research limitation.
- The citation needs to be justified to use APA 6.0

- Reviewer B:
- The research gap is unclear; why conduct the study in the first place? What is the problem that the current research aims to address?
 - Please refrain from using contractions (e.g., "couldn't") in an academic paper. Spell it out (e.g., "could not") instead.
 - For a qualitative study, the literature review leaves a lot to be desired. Need to further elaborate on the theory of credit unions, its roles in family businesses, etc.
 - Please use "triangulation" by referring to earlier literature to corroborate/reject the findings in the current study
 - A proper academic research requires a complete List of References, which the current study does not have.
