This study aims to explore the impact of organizational culture, leadership, self efficacy on employee performance with Organizational Citizenship Behavior (OCB) as an intervening variable (study at the Maha Bhoga Marga Foundation). This research uses a quantitative approach through questionnaire methods, interviews, observations, literature studies and documentation. Data analysis was carried out using Partial Least Squares (PLS) which is one of the components of the Structural Equation Modeling (SEM) framework.

The research was conducted on 50 permanent employees at the Maha Bhoga Marga Foundation, with more than 5 years of service. The results showed that organizational culture, leadership and self efficacy have a positive influence on employee performance. Likewise, OCB as an intervening variable has a positive effect on employee performance by mediating organizational culture, leadership, and self efficacy. The relationship between OCB and the phenomenon that occurs is that employee performance affects organizational culture, leadership and self efficacy.

The findings of this study are expected to contribute to a better understanding of employee performance and OCB as an intervening variable at Maha Bhoga Marga Foundation.
